

Title: The NASA Solar System Exploration education and public Outreach Web Site:
Addressing your E/PO Needs

A new version of the SSE E/PO public web site serves audiences including researchers who are E/PO proposers, museum and planetarium professionals, K-14 educators, and students. We are looking to complete the special section for researchers based on feedback from the community on our elements of this page. These elements include NASA OSS proposal information, partnering opportunities, and information on examples of existing E/PO activities and products. We propose to collect feedback on the web site elements during this session for integration into the web site. The SSE E/PO Forum web site is located at <http://sseforum.jpl.nasa.gov>.
